Preparation Before the start of the course, participants will be asked to complete a questionnaire indicating their level of English, qualifications, present teaching position, number of years teaching and special interest areas.

Orientation is held on the first day of the course.

The course director will introduce the course and ask for comments from the participants.

Course sessions will be adapted as appropriate.

Objectives The courses are designed for non-native teachers of English in primary education and delivered on interactive whiteboards.

The course objectives are to improve and extend the teaching techniques of teachers of English as a foreign language and include hands-on experience with interactive whiteboards.

Teachers will be able to:

- use different teaching strategies to accommodate different learning styles.
- motivate and encourage students
- integrate the teaching of reading, writing, listening and speaking skills.
- create activities to make grammar and vocabulary learning more memorable.
- focus on the teaching of pronunciation.
- use error correction techniques effectively.
- adapt course book materials to suit learner needs.

Personal language development is an important feature of the courses and will be based on participants' needs.

Methodology Practical and creative teaching techniques will be presented using a range of teaching methodologies.

Participants will be able to try out new techniques and strategies including using interactive whiteboards and give feedback as to how these techniques can be applied to their own teaching situation.

Recently published ELT materials will be suggested for further reading as well as online resources appropriate to participants' needs.

Follow-up All participants will be required to fill in a course evaluation questionnaire.

Follow-up support will be available via email. Further online communication will be available where participants will be able to share thoughts, experiences and teaching ideas with colleagues from other countries, even after the course finishes.
